

Happy New Year.

I hope you are all well and keeping safe and warm.

On the webpage you will find some learning opportunities that your child could complete today. I appreciate it may not be possible to print this out so please don't worry – it could be completed on plain paper.

Maths:

Please find the Place Value booklet on the webpage for you to work through. This will revise many concepts that we have already covered and you could use BBC Bitesize to help you learn about Roman Numerals.

English:

Please find the reading comprehension task on the webpage.

Geography:

Following on from our Geography learning, create a PowerPoint/information page/leaflet about the Oceans, the dangers that they face and the importance of protecting these. Could you give tips about what people need to do to help save the Oceans?

Any time reading is also valuable and there are sessions set on TTRocks.

Take care and hopefully see you all soon 😊
